

1. It is clear that some of you are taking VERY POOR class-notes and thus have not done well in Jan 21 short-quiz. Unless you correct this problem, there is little chance to get a grade C or better.
2. A second factor may be not studying the notes carefully before coming to the next class.
3. Not attempting to think about the practice problems and work out all the details is a likely third factor. (No one prevents you looking for related information elsewhere, book or Internet, if needed.) You can also work with a friend on the practice problems.
4. When you see something new presented in the class that you are not familiar with, you need to pay more attention and take notes.
5. Rewriting your notes after the class when you review the material and prepare for the next class is a good study-method.
